

Hijackers may take off again

DUBAI, United Arab Emirates (UPI) — Hijackers of a Japan Air Lines jumbo jet ordered complete refuelling of the plane today and demanded that the body of a woman hijacker killed by a grenade explosion be delivered to the plane, Dubai officials said.

The twin commands gave the impression the Arab and Japanese hijackers were preparing to take off from this Persian Gulf emirate for an unknown destination with the 150 hostages who have suffered for three days in the burning desert heat.

Government officials said they had no definite information that the hijackers planned to take off.

It was at 6 p.m. (9 a.m. EDT) that the hijackers demanded the refuelling of the plane. On Sunday they asked politely for it to be partly refuelled, but this time they said they would blow up the plane unless they received fuel immediately.

At 6:15 p.m., the hijackers demanded the return of Mrs. Peralta, the woman with the Ecuadorean passport who was blown up by the accidental explosion of a hand grenade concealed in her clothing.

There was no official word on where the plane might be heading.

In view of the extra refuelling there was speculation the hijackers might head for Japan, by way of Karachi.

The jet's chief purser, who was wounded in the grenade explosion, said Mrs. Peralta and her husband were among the hijack team.

The purser, Yoshihisa Miyashita, 37, was the only living person the hijackers allowed to leave the plane since it arrived at the modern airport of this oil-rich Persian Gulf sheikhdom early Saturday. They have threatened to blow up the plane with all aboard if police or anyone else comes near.

No recession seen despite drop in economy

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon's chief economic adviser does not foresee a recession despite a sharp drop in the rate of growth of the economy.

Herbert Stein, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisers, said Sunday that he did not believe "there's any doubt that the rate of growth of the economy has slowed down."

But he said he did not see "any evidence" a recession was in the immediate future despite the fact the gross national product annual rate of growth dropped to 2.6 per cent in the second quarter of this year after booming at an 8 per cent rate in the first quarter.

"I don't think it is the most probable development," Stein said of the recession talk. "We don't think it's a likely development, but we are in the business of being concerned about possibilities and considering what might be done if that possibility, which we now think is small, should become more serious."

Both Stein and Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz conceded Sunday there would be increases in food prices in the coming days due to the lifting of most price controls with the start of the administration's Phase IV economic program.

Stein said the putting into effect of more flexible controls was "the only way to assure an adequate supply of food and less rapidly rising food prices a year from now."

Butz said the loosening of controls was necessary to prevent shortages of some foods.

"It is far more important to have the produce here than not to have it there at 15 per cent lower prices," Butz said.

Stein was interviewed on CBS' Face the Nation. Butz appeared on NBC's Meet the Press.

Butz ruled out food rationing during the Phase IV period but conceded that "spot shortages of beef likely would develop in the months ahead."

We may have some spot shortages of beef and some cuts of beef may be in short supply in some locations in the months ahead," Butz said.

Nixon's program announced last week kept price controls on beef until Sept. 12 but eased controls on other foods.

Stein said the program was designed to allow a "gradual phasing in of the price increases that we think are inevitable over the next three or four months without a big bump at any one stage."

Stein was asked if he expected housewives to begin hoarding beef.

Eggs, poultry prices jump

United Press International Eggs and poultry prices were the first grocery items to make a big jump today at the start of the first full shopping week after the beginning of Phase IV.

Advertised prices set before the announcement last Wednesday that the freeze had been lifted from food items kept prices from rising too drastically last week, but the arrival of the new week was expected to see them skyrocket.

Grocery stores in Austin, Tex.,

last week advertised specials on whole fryers at 49 cents a pound. Today they were selling for 71 cents. A Handy Andy store had a bacon sale at $1.29 a pound but sold it today for $1.68.

"My wife and I used to look at meat prices and threaten to become vegetarians," said William Walker of Rochester, N.Y., as he did his shopping. "Now we look at vegetable prices, then go over to the meat counter, and talk about becoming cereal freaks."

Butz to testify

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Agriculture Secretary Earl L. Butz maintains his department was caught by surprise by the $1 billion Soviet wheat deal last year.

He will tell his story today to a Senate investigating subcommittee, which last week heard testimony that sharply disputed Butz's claim.

Bernard Steinweg, vice president of Continental Grain Co., the biggest American seller in the grain deal, said last Friday he told a top Agriculture official last July the Russians were seeking to buy massive quantities of grain from his firm.

Chairman Henry Jackson, D-Wash., of the permanent investigations subcommittee, produced affidavits from officials of three other major grain firms who said they also informed Agriculture officials last July that the Soviets were negotiating to buy record quantities of American grain.

Jackson has charged that farmers were given misleading information by Agriculture at this time and accordingly sold their grain at 1971 prices shortly before the Soviet deal caused prices to jump to record levels.

Botulism in mushrooms

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has launched a campaign to track down 336,000 glass jars of mushrooms which may contain harmful botulin bacteria.

The Food and Drug Administration (FDA) said the massive recall campaign was started after Canadian authorities confirmed that a Montreal woman had been stricken with botulism poisoning after eating from a jar of mushrooms that had been contaminated by botulism toxin.

The FDA urged the public in the New England states, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and California to return unopened any of five brands of mushrooms—all in glass jars—produced and packaged by Wirth Food Products, Lawrence, Mass.

Rickenbacker dead at 82

ZURICH (UPI) — Aviation pioneer Capt. Eddie Rickenbacker, whose World War I squadron fought with the Red Baron's Flying Circus, died of heart failure at Neumuenster Hospital early today, his attending physician, Dr. Walter Steffen said. Rickenbacker was 82.

Steffen said Rickenbacker was admitted to the hospital July 15 and treated for a heart condition.

The doctor said Rickenbacker would be cremated in Zurich on Tuesday and his ashes flown to Columbus, Ohio.

Hospital officials said the cremation ceremony would be private.

Rickenbacker was admitted to the hospital on July 5 after arriving in Zurich with his wife four days earlier.

Rickenbacker was hospitalized in Miami, Fla., for nearly a month earlier this year, but had improved enough to be allowed to make the trip to Switzerland.

Officials of Eastern Airlines in Miami said services for Rickenbacker would be held in Columbus, Ohio, but no specific arrangements had yet been made.

Nixon says will not provide tapes for investigation

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Nixon told both the Senate Watergate Committee and special

Watergate Prosecutor Archibald Cox today that he would not furnish to them tapes of his White House conversation about the scandal.

In a letter to Sen. Sam J. Ervin chairman of the Senate select committee, Nixon said he had personally listened to a number of the tape recordings and said they are "entirely consistent with what I know to be the truth and what I have stated to be the truth."

Nixon said that if the tapes would settle the "central questions at issue in the Watergate inquiries," then their disclosure might serve a substantial public interest.

However, he said that the tapes contained many comments that "persons with different perspectives and motivations would inevitably interpret in different ways."

"Accordingly, the tapes which have been under my sole personal control, will remain so," he said. "None has been transcribed or made public and none will be."

In a television speech April 27, Nixon said he knew nothing in advance about the Watergate wiretapping or the subsequent efforts to conceal the involvement of members of his administration. He blamed the wiretapping on overzealous aides and called for legislation to prevent a recurrence.

Ervin had asked for the tapes after a former White House aide testified a week ago today that tapings were made on most of Nixon's conversations in his oval office and in another office he uses in the Executive Office Building.

The witness, Alexander Butterfield, also said that Nixon's conversations on four telephones were also automatically recorded since the spring of 1971.

Cox made a separate request to Nixon for access to the recordings. Cox's request was turned down in a letter by Charles Alan Wright, an assistant in the office of the President's legal counsel which is handling the Watergate matter for Nixon.

Nixon's letter to Ervin did not mention the senator's request for a private meeting with Nixon to discuss informal ways for the committee might be given access to the recordings.

The Watergate Committee believes the tapes would clear up the central question of Nixon's personal involvement in the Watergate break-in and subsequent cover-up.

Nixon said he was turning down the request for the same reason he refused an earlier committee request for access to other presidential documents — that it would seriously jeopardize the President's ability to conduct the duties of his office.

Witness says Haldeman ordered tapes destroyed

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Gordon C. Strachan testified today that his boss in the White House, H.R. Haldeman, directed him to purge White House files of political memos on intelligence operations on the Monday morning following the Watergate break-in.

Strachan, 29, said Haldeman told him on June 19, 1972, "We want to make sure the files are clean."

The Senate Watergate Committee questioned Strachan while awaiting a response from President Nixon to its request for access to his tape recorded conversations touching on the Watergate cover-up.

The President was expected to reject the request. The release of his letter to the committee, the White House said, was postponed until some time this afternoon.

The straw-haired lawyer, who lost his job as counsel to the U.S. Information Agency three days before Haldeman resigned from the White House staff on April 30, told his story to the committee under a grant of immunity protecting him from prosecution on the basis of what he revealed.

Strachan said Charles W. Colson, another White House lawyer, was known in the executive mansion as the aide in charge of "dirty tricks."

Jet liner crashes with 79 aboard

PAPEETE, Tahiti (UPI) — A Pan American Boeing 707 with 79 persons aboard cartwheeled into the sea a mile off this South Pacific Island today moments after the pilot reported a smashed windshield and said he would attempt an emergency landing.

Aviation officials said 10 bodies had been recovered from the oil-stained water and that a Canadian tentatively identified as a "Mr. Campbell" was rescued alive.

Radioactive contamination deliberate?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Ground water beneath the Hanford Reservation in southeastern Washington and the National Reactor Testing Station near Idaho Falls, Idaho, has been deliberately contaminated by the Atomic Energy Commission, the Los Angeles Times reported Sunday.

At least one lawsuit is forthcoming against the AEC and its activities have put it on a collision course with other governmental agencies, the Times said.

The Times said half a million gallons of highly radioactive liquid waste have leaked accidentally into the soil at Hanford, the sprawling reservation near Richland, Wash., where plutonium has been produced for three decades for use in construction of nuclear weapons.

In addition, the Times alleged the AEC has been deliberately discharging low-level radioactive liquids into the soil at Hanford and in Idaho, enabling some radionuclides to enter the Columbia River and contaminate ground water at both sites.

Committee, Nixon conflict expected to intensify

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Republican Sen. Lowell P. Weicker hopes President Nixon will put the Senate Watergate Committee "out of business" by speaking out on the scandal.

Weicker expressed the sentiment Sunday, but it appeared the conflict between Nixon and the investigating committee would intensify today.

Nixon was reported prepared to inform the committee he would refuse its request for tape recordings made of his office conversations since 1971, which presumably would prove or disprove the claims of John W. Dean III, the former White House counsel, that Nixon knew of the Watergate coverup.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin Jr., D.N.C., the committee chairman, said over the weekend the President was making it more difficult to believe in his innocence by withholding evidence.

"It's becoming an intellectual feat to continue presuming that the President wasn't aware of the Watergate coverup," Ervin said during a public appearance at Atlantic Beach, N.C.

The committee vice chairman, Sen. Howard H. Baker

Jr., R-Tenn., said at San Diego Sunday that the "Republican party could seriously be destroyed if the party doesn't face the facts of the scandal." But he said the final judgment on Watergate would be made by the American public and not the committee or the news media.

The committee may issue a subpoena for Nixon's recordings if he cannot be persuaded to reverse his stand. Prevailing sentiment on the seven-member panel, however, appears to be against taking the issue to court if the President refuses to honor the subpoena.

Both Ervin and Sen. Daniel K. Inouye, D-Hawaii, have said that court proceedings might take up to three years and that the best procedure would be to let the public sit in judgment on the President's refusal.

Weicker said in a UPI Washington Window interview he would like to see Nixon "cut loose and speak out" on the scandal.

"I'd like to see the President of the United States put the Ervin committee out of business," Weicker said.

Obituary

Raford Davenport

Graveside funeral services for Radford Wetzel Davenport, 74, will be held Tuesday, 2 p.m. at Lompoc Evergreen Cemetery with the Lompoc American Legion Post 211 officiating.

Arrangements are under the direction of McPeck Family Mortuary.

Mr. Davenport, of 326 South E St., died Saturday in Lompoc Hospital.

He was born Feb. 8, 1899 in Illinois and came to Lompoc in 1945. He went to work for Johns-Manville Products Co., and retired in 1964.

He was a veteran of World War II and later joined the American Legion. Among the survivors are two brothers, Albert of San Jose and Francis of Wisconsin; two sisters, both of Lompoc, Mrs. Jane Swartz, and Mrs. Dora Fritz; and a nephew, Dean Davenport of Wisconsin.

Friends may call at McPeck Family Mortuary until 8 p.m. today and until noon tomorrow.

TWO Santa Ynez men, William Neil Waterman, 23, and Mark C. Sanchez, 24, were injured Saturday when their car was hit broadside by a car driven by Christopher Thomas Paola, also of Santa Ynez. The accident occurred at 1:28 a.m. on Highway 246 a half mile east of Ballard Road, according to the California Highway Patrol.

Waterman, the driver was ejected from the car and suffered a cut on the head, the CHP said. The Waterman car was westbound near Buellton when it U turned in front of the Paola car, investigators said.

LOMPOC Planning Commission tonight will consider an annual review of signs including some that are too large and some that have not been properly maintained. In other action the commission will hear a progress report on construction of additions to the Ramming School on Pine Avenue. All of the agenda business was carried over from a meeting postponed on July 9 because of lack of a quorum.

Armed bandit reportedly robs store

A man used a small handgun concealed by a garment taken from a rack in the armed robbery of People's Place, a small craft shop at 103 W. Walnut Ave., witnesses say.

The incident occurred Saturday. Police reports show a man dressed in blue denim jacket and slacks and a yellow shirt ordered the clerk to "put all the bills in a bag." An estimated $186 is reported missing from the store.

Witnesses said the man sauntered into the store, picked a garment off the rack and with this to conceal the weapon, accosted the clerk.

ORGON, PLAYED BY Dakin Matthews, contemplates Tartuffe (Rick Risso) in the Pacific Conservatory of the Performing Arts presentation of Tartuffe which opens Wednesday at Allan Hancock College. Orgon is the trusting protagonist who is victimized by the scheming hypocrite Tartuffe. Tartuffe is Moliere's savagely satirical portrait of a pious hypocrite. Telephone 922-8313 for ticket and reservation information or visit the Music Box in Lompoc.

Tartuffe to open at Hancock Wednesday

Tartuffe, the Moliere classic that has delighted audiences around the world for over 300 years since its first presentation at the court of Louis XIV, will open at the PCPA Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

One of the most hotly debated and thoroughly antic plays ever written, Tartuffe is distinguished first, by its title having entered the common language as a word for an arch-hypocrite; second by having contributed, 16 years after its presentation, toward the establishment in 1680 of the renowned Comedie Francaise.

Rick Risso will be in the central role of the sanctimonious fraud, the wheedling, lecherous, menacingly corrupt Tartuffe, and Dakin Matthews (Orgon) as the gullible husband and father who is half-hypnotized by the false piety of Tartuffe.

Carolyn Reed-Dunn (Elmire) and Ruth Staples (Marine) will be seen as the wife and daughter sneakily coveted by Tartuffe, and Belito Moreno (Dorine) will be the housemaid who speaks her own mind and creates comic effect by injecting truth amid a welter of phoniness.

Reborn into widespread American popularity by the 1965 production at the Repertory Company of Lincoln Center in New York, Tartuffe was called by Time Magazine on that occasion "a black, bitter and biting comedy, turned into a broad and bouncy farce."

Under the direction of Professor Gordon Peacock, Tartuffe will be played in a colorful setting of the 17th century designed by Robert Blackman, and in picturesque costumes of the period designed by Jack Byers.

Peacock points out, "Moliere has written a play about hypocrisy, and pointed it up by the use of laughter, laughter at the characters, at the situations, and at yourself...hypocrisy is still very much with us today. It leaps out at us anytime, anywhere, from politics, religion, etc."

"The play seems simple, but it carries a load of history with it. The production will stress texture especially in the acting style. We do not want to do it as a farce. It's a matter of balancing the comic situation with the farcical and developing a human character coming from within, not applied externally."

Robbery victim shoots four

NEW YORK (UPI) — A construction worker was beaten and robbed of his weekly paycheck in his tenement Sunday. When he recovered, he killed one man and wounded three others by shooting at random into a crowd.

His scalp bleeding and all his teeth knocked out, the worker, James Winfield, 48, then surrendered to police. "I'm tired of being ripped off," Officer Dennis McCormack quoted him as saying.

Financial reports will give union added fuel

DETROIT (UPI) — Financial reports this week by the "Big Three" automakers should provide added fuel for the United Auto Workers' "share-of-the-pie" contract demands for 700,000 members.

The union leaders will be keeping an especially sharp eye today on the profit statement of Chrysler Corp., most often mentioned as a possible strike target when current three year pacts expire Sept. 14.

Rebounding from financial doldrums of three years ago, Chrysler's first quarter profits were a record and second quarter earnings are also expected to be high. UAW President Leonard Woodcock says Chrysler's good financial position makes the No. 3 automaker as much a possible strike target as Ford and General Motors.

The automotive financial reports this week should reflect the torrid sales pace in the first six months of 1973, which saw a record 5,214,623 domestic cars sold. The automakers are expected to complain, however, that federal economic controls have lowered their profit margins.

Both Ford and General Motors in the first quarter set records for any three-month period in history while Chrysler's earnings of $89.8 million was the best ever for a January-March period. GM's profit margin was 7.1 per cent, down from higher earnings marks in the mid-1960s.

Chrysler also has not responded to the UAW's basic list of demands laid on the bargaining table when contract talks opened last week. Top negotiators and GM and Ford termed the demands excessive with Sidney McKenna, Ford labor affairs director, saying they are well above Phase IV guidelines.

The tone for the negotiations was set over the weekend by Emile Mazey, secretary-treasurer of the UAW, who said the "purpose of this union is to get a share of the profits."

"The companies make scandalous profits," Mazey said.

Woodcock, in an appearance at a UAW regional conference in Akron, Ohio, Saturday, said that a strike against the automakers was "unlikely."

He indicated, however, that the union was prepared to walk out should talks break down.

Fire guts Haiti palace

PORT-AU-PRINCE, Haiti (UPI) — Fire of unknown origin today gutted Haiti's national palace and adjoining Dessaline Barracks in downtown Port-Au-Prince.

President for Life Jean Claude Duvalier, 22, and his mother were in the palace when the fire broke out but were removed safely to the president's hilltop home. Duvalier told the nation in a radiocast he was safe and the country was normal.

Cause of the fire, which followed an explosion in the basement munitions depot, was not immediately known. The government and police launched an investigation.

Dollar slips on European market

LONDON (UPI) — The dollar slipped on European money markets at the start of the new business week today. Dealers said they were not sure whether this was the start of a new slide in the dollar's value.

"It's the traditional slow Monday market," said a Frankfurt banker. "Trading was very quiet."

The dollar dropped slightly in Frankfurt and by larger amounts in Zurich and Amsterdam.

It rose in London, where it took $2.538 to buy one British pound compared with $2.5405 on Friday. Dealers said such factors as higher British interest rates were responsible for the dollar's improvement.

Fair auction judging schedule

Last year's Santa Barbara County Fair junior auction brought a record amount of $151,712.85 to 4-H and FFAers from the area with 548 market animals brought into the auction ring.

The animals, 83 swine, 100 beef and 365 sheep were raised as projects by 4-H clubs and Future Farmers of America chapters. The annual auction is supported by business organizations and individuals.

The average per-pound price for swine was $1.21; beef, 79 cents; and sheep $1.43.

The champion 4-H hog set a record for $7.25 per pound. 4-H and FFA beef animals brought $2.30 per pound which was respectable but not a record. Grand champion sheep returned $8.75 to the 4-H winner and FFA grand champion brought $6. per pound.

The following is the livestock judging schedule for the Fair, which begins tomorrow.

TUESDAY

Life expectancy up to high of 71.2 years

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Average life expectancy of Americans increased to an all-time high last year but deaths due to the biggest killer—heart disease—also went up.

The National Center for Health Statistics said in an annual report today the average life expectancy of Americans advanced in 1972 to 71.2 years. No male-female breakdown was provided.

This compared to 71.1 years in 1971 and 69.9 years in 1963.

However, the incidence of fatal heart disease went up 0.8 per cent last year, climbing from 358.4 per 100,000 persons in 1971 to 361.3 in 1972, the report said. Heart disease deaths numbered 741,010 in 1971 and 752,450 in 1972.

The agency said there were more deaths due to heart disease in the age groups 15-24, 45-54, and 75-84.

Cancer remained the second biggest killer with 166.6 deaths per 100,000 population.

The other leaders were cerebral vascular disease, 100.9; accidents, 54.6; influenza and pneumonia, 29.4; diabetes, 18.8; infant mortality, 16.4; arteriosclerosis, 15.8; cirrhosis of the liver, 15.4; and bronchitis, emphysema and asthma, 13.8.

The death rate for motor vehicle accidents jumped 6.7 per cent.

Committee to decide on probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Armed Services Committee will begin deciding today whether to hold a full investigation of the secret U.S. bombing of Cambodia, which was conducted for 14 months while President Nixon and the State Department said it was not occurring, congressional sources said Sunday.

Some of the sources said the bombing, begun in March of 1969 but not officially acknowledged until last week, could crystallize a new conflict between Congress and the President.

Official documents show that both Nixon and State Department legal adviser John R. Stevenson said in speeches in 1970 that the first bombing occurred during the controversial invasion on April 30 of that year.

Campers

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A consumer group Sunday charged that 43 per cent of all motor homes are overloaded when two persons are riding in the front seat and asked the federal government to warn the public about it.

The Ralph Nader-backed Center for Auto Safety said Sunday the personal letters sent by the National Highway Traffic Safety Administration (NHTSA) to 1,200 camper owners was a "timid" response.

The group called for a warning to the public at large about inadequate suspension systems in the 1,200 vehicles surveyed by NHTSA.

As many as 400,000 campers and pickup trucks with camper bodies would have defective suspension systems if the survey is representative, the center charged.

Bumper crop but no cost break

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Despite California's bumper harvests this growing season, the expected record production of $6 billion in crops will not result in a cost break to the consumer, the state's top agriculture official said today.

"Even with the record crop I think farmers are going to have to have some kind of a price raise to meet their costs," said State Food and Agriculture Director C. B. Christensen.

"We have unofficial estimates that overall there's a possibility of a 15 per cent raise for food stuffs," he said in an interview.

"These probably sound like inflationary trends but actually they are just catchups for the food and meat producing industries," the lifelong rancher added. Christensen said California farmers had been working "at non-profit since the freeze started and they just have to catch up and pass on the costs to the buyer or otherwise production will fall off."

California farmers this year are growing an estimated 6.3 million acres of field crops, a 5 per cent increase over last year. Agriculture, the state's No. 1 industry, is expected to jump to $6 billion this year over the $5.1 billion last year.

"We have great possibilities for one of our best production years ever," Christensen said.

But with the food price freeze ending last week the production jump will mean nothing to the consumer. Prices on crops in season have already edged upward, Christensen said, and he forecast higher prices for others as they are harvested. He mentioned peaches, lettuce, grapes, other fruits, grain and rice.

Christensen, who runs 4,000 head of cattle in Modoc County, also said that when the price ceiling on meats is lifted Sept. 12, "I would expect them to go up."

"They would have to go up to reflect a profit to these people to allow them to stay in business. Now I understand 48 killing plants went out of business during the freeze," he said.

Thunderstorms whip Texas

United Press International
Powerful thunderstorms lashed portions of Texas early today and locally heavy rains doused areas from Colorado to North Carolina.

Winds of up to 70 miles per hour buffeted Dalhart, Tex., late Sunday night. One-inch hail and damaging winds were reported about 70 miles east of El Paso, Tex. However, no injuries were attributed to the storms.

The storms were losing their strength in southwestern Texas early today but new storms over western Kansas and western Nebraska were gaining strength.

Columbia, Mo., recorded nearly two inches of rain in one hour early today—more than an inch in one half-hour period. Dodge City, Kan., received more than half an inch of rain in the same one-hour period.

Scattered thunderstorms stretched from the Rockies of Colorado and Wyoming through the middle Mississippi Valley and to the Atlantic Coast from South Carolina to New Jersey Sunday night and early today.

Greensboro, N.C., was doused with nearly two and three quarters inches of rain in one hour Sunday night.

Immunity

Those following the Watergate hearings by the U.S. Senate may wonder about the issue of immunity which has arisen in connection with appearances of the various witnesses.

That the issue should arise at all is due to the fact that Congress has never enacted a law to extend immunity to witnesses compelled to testify before it.

This might be in the nature of an oversight. It is difficult to see how Congress can expect to get to the bottom of any matter under investigation if its witnesses are in fear of subsequent prosecution based upon their own testimony.

Any witness who might have committed a punishable offense or witnessed an illegal action without reporting the same might be subject to prosecution if he so testifies.

In such a circumstance it is possible a witness will seek to avoid telling what he knows or take refuge in the Fifth Amendment. That amendment clearly states that no person "shall be compelled in any criminal case to be a witness against himself."

Because of this, the Watergate's committee chairman, Senator Sam Ervin, recognized as the Senate's leading Constitutional scholar and statesman, found it necessary to obtain a court order extending "limited" immunity to certain of the witnesses questioned by the committee.

The immunity order by the court was "limited" in the sense it forbade any prosecution of those witnesses based upon their testimony. If the government's special prosecutor can find other evidence of culpability without resorting to the testimony or documents furnished by a witness to the Senate, a prosecution for offenses could be made.

Former Attorney General John Mitchell made his appearance before the committee without benefit of immunity. It will be recalled that his attorneys made the point they had waived the Fifth Amendment. It will also be remembered his attorneys made the point they had not waived the Sixth Amendment. That provides that "In all prosecutions the accused shall enjoy the right to a speedy trial, by an impartial jury..." Undoubtedly this will figure in the New York trial, where Mitchell is presently under an indictment, and any other trials which might follow on the heels of the hearings. It can be expected the point will be that the exposure to the nation of Mitchell's testimony will prevent him getting an impartial jury.

The immunity issue is of particular interest to Californians since nothing similar could arise here in connection with witnesses compelled to testify before the legislature.

One would have difficulty pleading the Fifth Amendment in a legislative proceeding since this state long ago recognized the problem and enacted Section 9410 of the Government Code. This provides that a person sworn and examined before the legislature "can not be held to answer criminally or be subject to any penalty or forfeiture for any fact or act touching which he is required to testify." It further provides that "a witness can not refuse to testify...for the reason his testimony may tend to disgrace him or render him infamous." And also "Any statement...by such witness is not competent evidence in any criminal proceeding against the witness."

This law was enacted in 1943, based upon previous acts of the legislature and court cases. The whole idea is based upon the reasoning that it is of greater public benefit to find out what happened so that laws may be enacted to prevent similar future occurrences than it is to jail an individual for a specific offense.

Undoubtedly this is the reasoning followed by Senator Ervin's committee in securing immunity for its witnesses. The senators want to find out what happened so they may devise laws to prevent the same things in future campaigns.

Solving the energy problem will be expensive. For you as well as for us.

More costly fuel supplies, construction schedule delays, high interest rates, inflation and the increasing costs of protecting the environment all add up to higher utility rates.

At PG&E we're doing everything we can to provide you with reliable gas and electric service and to keep rates as low as possible. But rates are higher today and they'll continue to increase.

Here's a closer look at the reasons why:

Higher fuel costs.

Natural gas from Alaska and other distant points will be far more expensive.

The search for new gas supplies, including exploration in Canada and the Alaskan north slope, is expensive. Such gas will cost more and bringing it from greater distances will add to its price. Alternatives such as synthetic gas, gas made from coal, and importing liquefied natural gas could cost even more.

Besides natural gas, only low-sulfur oil is acceptable as fuel in steam-electric power plants under present air pollution control standards. And we have to pay high premium prices for low-sulfur oil.

(When the costs of oil and natural gas go up, so must electric rates, because most of our steam-electric power plants are fueled by gas or oil.)

Construction schedule delays.

Regulatory procedures, involving up to 30 or more public agencies, are taking longer and longer. And new laws and regulations have established more complicated procedures for plant siting and construction. All these slow down construction schedules, and inflation alone is adding substantially to costs during these periods of delay.

Last year we spent $48 million to help improve the environment, including undergrounding power lines.

Environmental costs.

It costs more to put power lines underground, to build and landscape esthetically pleasing plants, to minimize stack emissions and to cool the water discharged from power plants. During the period 1973-76, PG&E's environmental expenditures will exceed $300 million.

Higher interest rates.

Interest rates have almost doubled during the last ten years.

Utilities are "capital intensive" industries. That means money to build new facilities must be raised—in vast sums. Our construction program this year will exceed $600 million. And interest rates have risen from about 4 1/2% in 1965 to about 7 1/2% today, which adds more millions to the cost of gas and electric service.

All these things, plus the inflationary pressures which affect every business, add up to higher costs for us and higher rates for our customers.

The era of plentiful energy at bargain rates is ending. Our job is to hold down costs wherever possible, without sacrificing the environment or the quality and reliability of your service. We're working hard to meet that challenge.

You can help—by not wasting gas and electricity. PG&E

Japanese youth to visit Lompoc

Four Lompoc families will open their homes to Japanese youth in a Labo 4-H exchange program sponsored by University of California Agricultural Extension Service. Delegates will arrive in Portland, Oregon tomorrow, proceeding to either San Francisco or Sacramento by charter plane. Buses will be waiting to transport them to the University of California campus at Davis.

Four-H members from Yolo Co. will meet and help them settle in rooms at Tercero Housing Complex. They will stay and visit with small groups of the guests. The evening program will be informal with an early-to-bed goal.

On Thursday an orientation program will include elephant train rides around the campus, project displays and action programs by 4-H members, games, rest time, swimming, visiting and a movie — all low-key non-pressure. In the evening, perhaps a talent program including numbers by some of the Japanese children as well as by 4-H members, then group singing and refreshments.

Following breakfast Friday the visitors will leave for their home stays. Many host families will go to the campus to greet their guests and take them home. Some guests will be taken by bus to county headquarters to meet their families. In the next three weeks, July 27- August 18, the Japanese visitors will be integrated into American family life.

Staying with the Archie Nogles, 134 Inverness Ave., will be Yoshio Tsuzuki, 12. The Frank Costas, 1999 Drum Canyon Road, will host Hiroshi Nakamura; the Warren Fletchers, 619 East Willow Ave., Kazushige Matsushita. Staying with Mrs. Cecil Buttram, 437 North Second St., will be a Japanese tutor, Mrs. Masako Fujiwara.

A second tutor will stay in Guadalupe, an administrator, in Santa Barbara. Students will be guests in two Goleta homes, another Santa Barbara home, two in Santa Maria, one in Orcutt, one in Maricopa.

Most of the Labo children come from urban homes; many have never been on a farm. It is possible that some have not slept in beds as many Japanese sleep on the floor on mats. Wearing shoes into the house will be strange. In their homeland, shoes are removed at the door. Other customs of course, also differ. The guests however, are on a learning experience and will be treated as one of the family. Correspondence between Japan and California the past four months has greatly helped the "getting acquainted" phase. All involved look forward to an exciting three weeks of mutual pleasure.

Dear Abby

Housekeeping becomes game of hide and seek

DEAR ABBY: I am a mother and sole bread winner of three school-age children. I have worked hard to provide for us since my husband died four years ago.

Recently I landed an ideal job as a housekeeper for a rather wealthy family. I work three days a week and the location and pay is excellent.

On a few occasions the husband has come home unexpectedly, and when his wife hears his car in the driveway, she pushes me into a walk-in closet to hide me until she can get me out without having her husband see me.

When I asked her why she was hiding me, she said I was her "secret" help, and she didn't want her husband to know she had as much help as she does. (She has another woman come three days a week, too, but he knows about her.)

Abby, I feel so foolish sneaking around this way, but I need the money. Should I stay on? What if the husband finds me one of these times?

STIR CRAZY IN THE CLOSET
DEAR STIR: Since the job is ideal and you need the money, stay there. If the husband finds you, let his wife explain what you're doing there. If he has a sense of humor, you're home free.

DEAR ABBY: It seems I have a problem. I am 47 years old, and last year I married for the second time and my wife is expecting soon. Since this is the first child I have ever fathered, and probably my last, I want him to have a special name. (No argument, please. I KNOW it will be a boy.)

My surname is "Huffman," so I would like to name our son "Manhuff." My wife's maiden name is Wolfe, therefore I want his middle name to be "Wolfgang," his full name being, "Manhuff Wolfgang Huffman." (His nickname would of course be, "Manny.")

My wife objects strenuously. She says it will be a burden to the boy and people will make fun of him.

What do you think Abby? If you feel the boy will be handicapped by such a name, please let me know, as I have his best interests at heart.
JACK (OF ALL TRADES)

DEAR JACK: Never mind what I think. Since your wife objects strenuously, forget the "Manhuff Wolfgang," and name him "Jack Jr." (P.S. If he's a "she," you'll have no problem.)

CONFIDENTIAL TO JERRY IN TUCSON: When your wife no longer cares how late you come home, it's later than you think.

Credit Women meet at Pizza Factory

The Pizza Factory was the setting for the July meeting of Lompoc Credit Women. Presiding was Phyllis (Mrs. Ray) Anderson. Guest speaker was Dick Walmsley of the Credit Bureau. "Skip Tracing" was his subject.

At conclusion of the evening Walmsley was surprised with a birthday cake.

Prospective members attending were: Deborah Hicks, Sears Roebuck & Co.; Valarie Jones, Pacific Brake & Tire; Joanie Schere, GEICO; Sharon Slater, Beneficial Finance Co.; Florence Welch, Mission Federal. Those interested in learning more about Credit Women are invited to contact Pamela Sesto, membership chairman, 736-3403.

Alisal Ranch is wedding scene

Janet Poloni,
John W. Holland
repeat their vows

Alisal Ranch was the outdoor setting for the wedding of Miss Janet Lynn Poloni and John W. Holland Saturday afternoon, July 14. Officiating at the double ring ceremony before 150 guests was the Rev. Kenneth R. Boyd of First Presbyterian Church.

Parents of the bride are Mr. and Mrs. Rinaldo L. Poloni, 502 South L St. The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Leroy Holland of Van Nuys.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a gown of white Swiss organza styled with portrait neckline, appliqued with Guipure lace, minute pintucked bodice and Bishop sleeves. French silk corded ribbon accented the deep cuffs and the waistline. The skirt flowed into a chapel train edged with lace. Orchids, stephanotis and babys breath fashioned her bouquet.

As honor matron Mrs. Dixon Walker wore sheer floral dotted Swiss organdy styled with portrait neckline and yellow underskirt. She carried a bouquet of mixed spring flowers.

Similarly gowned with green underskirt were the bridesmaids, Mrs. Greg Coursey of Boise, Idaho, and Mrs. Bill Shank of Caldwell, Idaho.

Serving the bridegroom as best man was Greg Coursey. Ushers were Gary Holland of Van Nuys, brother of the groom, and John O'Connor.

In the role of flower girl was Miss Laura Holland, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Holland.

Miss Jean Morris was the nuptial soloist. Sue Godden was the organist.

dinner. Champagne was served in the outdoor setting. Cousins of the bride, the Misses Christine and Joanne Poloni, attended the guest book and gift table. Mrs. Louis Poloni, aunt of the bride, served the cake, cut by Mrs. Charles Rios. Also present were maternal grandparents of the bride, Mr. and Mrs. Glen Harter, 438 South K St.

For her daughter's wedding day Mrs. Poloni wore a long shirtwaist dress of mauve chiffon and a white orchid corsage. The bridegroom's mother wore a long green and white dress with bolero jacket and a white orchid corsage.

On the couple's wedding trip to Northern Idaho and Canada, the new Mrs. Holland wore a mauve and white striped halter top with white cuffed pants. Both bride and groom are seniors at the College of Idaho at Caldwell.

Scouts hold rocket derby in Ryon Park

Observing a July theme of "Outer Space" 26 Cub Scouts and Webelos of Pack 103 were given rocket kits. With these each built a rocket for entry in a derby race at Ryon Park. In charge were Hank Korczak, Warren Arnold and Hugh Dalfrey.

All races were won by Mrs. Ellen Atwood's enthusiastic Den 1. As first place winner Scott Hecker was presented with a Scout swivel light lantern. Official Boy Scout canteens were prizes to John Atwood and Craig as second and third place winners. Space Derby ribbons were given to all participants. A surprise treat was presentation of ice cream bars by Liz Eastin.

Regular advancement awards of Den 3 included those to: Lon Brown, bobcat; Mark McGraw and Drew Martin, advancement to Webelos.

Local women serve as color bearers

Serving as color bearers pro-tem at District 7 convention of World War I Ladies Auxiliary last week in Santa Barbara were Edna Mae Bishop and Ruth Andersen of the Lompoc chapter. Also attending the meeting in Santa Barbara Veterans Memorial Hall were Alma Learned and Eleanor Howell.

Presiding was Mrs. Frank Moore of Grover City. Visitors from the Department of California were Mrs. W. G. Jenkins of San Diego, senior vice president, and Elsie Ward, department treasurer.

Announced was the recent naming of Sawtell Veterans Hospital as a national cemetery.

Your birthday by Stella

MONDAY, JULY 23 — Born today, you have very definite likes and dislikes—so much so that you find it extremely difficult to hide the way you feel about anything even from those whom the truth might hurt. Nor does your definiteness stop there, for you are equally unremitting where your decisions are concerned. Once your mind is made up, only the most irrefutable evidence of poor judgment or erroneous thinking on your part can make you change your opinion. On the other hand, you are fair above all things; when the evidence does indicate a change, you do so without further ado.

Your disagreements with others can at times become explosive and lead to consequences you have not anticipated. In time, however, such consequences — the disintegration of a close friendship, for instance — should teach you the value of tact and diplomacy. Indeed, long before you begin to employ these agents of smooth and healthy relationships, you will have come to admire them as traits in other people and to attempt to gain them for your own.

Quick to seize opportunity, you allow little to escape you that carries with it a chance for material gain. On the other hand, you are equally concerned with your spiritual well-being and with the building of your own character and, for this reason, there are times when you are presented with a genuine dilemma. In the beginning you will no doubt aim for the material goal; ultimately, however, the spiritual one will win out.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Tuesday, July 24
LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Let nothing escape your attention today that has to do with the furtherance of your career. A fellow worker may cause you concern during afternoon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Call on a friend for help should you feel the need of either material or moral support this morning. A quick call should bring results in a hurry.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Don't be too hard on one whose views differ from yours. Seek out a point of interest to both of you and concentrate on similarities between you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Self-improvement is the order of the day. Don't be surprised should others find a considerable change in you after a few hours' work.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Cultivate one who has been shyly keeping to the fringes of activities in which you are involved. You may gain an admirer of ultimate value.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Take care not to exaggerate a disagreement with a loved one. You may wish to change your mind later on, so don't make it difficult to do so.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Take full advantage of your own natural diplomacy. You can turn an ill wind into a beneficial windfall if you are careful to employ tact.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Don't take your own publicity too seriously. You have come a long way toward success; be satisfied for now with what you have attained so far.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Protect your professional prestige. There may be those who seek to besmirch your reputation so keep your eyes and ears open. Rely on instinct.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — You can reverse an unpleasant situation so that you begin to take gains from used-to-be losing circumstances. Guard against ill advice.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — The road to success may be more difficult than usual today. Stick to your plans, however, and you can at least make some progress on the home front.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — A day when ambition may prove more of a drawback than a blessing. Keep activities within the range of talent or suffer embarrassing consequences.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Jim: "What is the most surprising play you have ever seen made?"

Oswald: "Strangely enough, it took place in a humdrum four-spade contract. I was dummy. The late Hal Sims was declarer."

Jim: "It looks normal enough. South has to lose a club, a diamond and a heart. What happened?"

Oswald: "Hal won the first two tricks with his ace and king of spades. Then he plunked the deuce of hearts on the table. The game was match point duplicate and West followed with the four-spot. At this point Hal said 'Go up.' I played the seven. East played the three and there was a stunned silence."

Jim: "I imagine it was broken by a gasp from West."

Oswald: "It was more in the nature of the scream of a tortured prisoner. He had just let a seven-spot score a trick when he held king-queen-ten-eight of the suit."

Jim: "What did West have to say?"

Oswald: "He was too stunned to say anything, but Hal was there with a great comment when it turned out that East did hold the six. Hal remarked 'We're sure lucky that I played high from dummy.'"

Ruth 15s win round two

Seniors, 13s fall in weekend tourneys

A trio of run-scoring squeeze bunts, two laid down for base hits by shortstop Leroy Grossini, an rbi double from Paul Borchard, and the trusty right arm of winning pitcher Owen Etheridge won a second round 7-2 victory over Madera of Fresno Saturday for the Lompoc 14-15-year-old Ruth All-Stars in Belmont.

The Lompoc stars, now 2-0, advanced toward today's 2:30 p.m. third round meeting with Manteca in the six team Ruth 14-15 Northern California sectional while both the Lompoc Ruth Seniors and 13-year-old All-Stars were eliminated in nearby tournaments (see stories below.)

Etheridge, who went the distance Saturday, fanning seven and walking four, steadied down after allowing Madera a run each in the first and second frames. A run-scoring single advanced the Fresno squad to a 1-0 first frame lead and a lead-off home run hiked it to 2-0 Madera after one and 1-4 innings.

But Lompoc opened fire in the second when Leroy Grossini, aboard on a walk and advanced to second on an error, scored on an overthrow.

In the third stanza, third baseman Paul Borchard ferried over Lompoc's tying run when, after walking and meandering to third base on a passed ball, he was squeeze-bunted in by Grossini, who had to get his bat on a pitch that bounded in the dirt in front of the plate.

But bunt it Grossini did, opening the gates for Borchard, who was already underway, and beating out a base-hit besides.

The errorless valley squad took the offensive in the bottom of the fourth when second baseman Mandy Simmons doubled down the left field line with one out and Borchard followed with a bookend two bagger in the same spot to score the Lompoc infielder from second.

A George Renfroe single then put Borchard on third base and rightfielder George Polly then walked to load the bases.

Terry's 14:08.4 wins Polish 5,000

Valley distance man Terry Williams turned in a commanding 14:08.4 in Saturday's 5,000 meter international junior event in Warsaw, Poland, just edging another American to win the race and leaving the swiftist Polish competition far in the distance.

The run, part of a two-day Poland-America meet, was a preliminary event for Williams, who will compete this weekend against the Soviet Union's best juniors in the AAU National Junior Track and Field Championships in Odessa, Russia.

Terry's event in the big meet will probably be the 10,000 meter run

(about six miles), an event won last year by a 19-year-old Russian with a time of 31:36.0. Terry qualified for a berth on the 45-man U.S. junior touring team this year by winning a six mile run in Florida with a threatening time of 28:45.2.

Saturday, Williams just bested Robbie Perkins of Richmond, Va., who crossed the line with a duplicate 14:08.4. The two also turned in identical times - and Williams was also judged the winner - in last weekend's tour-opening exhibition 5,000 meter event in Heidemheim, West Germany. Last weekend's winning time, though, was a more leisurely 14:37.8.

The Americans' closest Eastern European competition Saturday, the Pole, Nadolny, lagged at 14:43.8 for third. Another Pole, Poniatowski, took fourth in 15:02.6.

Terry's win contributed to a U.S. junior (19-and-under) team victory of 134-89 over Poland. This, combined with a 76-57 U.S. junior women's win combined for an overall 210-146 United States junior track and field victory.

Saturday's was also a meet in which the touring U.S. junior track team set a world record in the 1,600 meter relay with a 3:08.2 that bested the previous 3:11.3. Herman Frazier, Larry Manochain, Jesse Robinson and Keith Tinner conspired in the record performance.

Watch the Record for coverage of next weekend's junior championships in Russia.

BABE RUTH All-Star teams from the Lompoc Valley saw action in three post season playoff tournaments this weekend in the San Francisco Bay area with players and fans of each age level team cheering the other Lompoc squads in their off hours. Only the 15-year-olds, though, survived the weekend. Here, 13-year-old Lompoc Ruth All-Stars score in a recent contest.

Wins St. Louis Classic

Littler: how sweet it is

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The camera crews had packed up their gear and the fans were forming a massive traffic jam leaving Norwood Hills Country Club. Gene Littler stood behind the clubhouse with a few stragglers to savor his victory Sunday in the $210,000 St. Louis Golf Classic.

A middle-aged couple from nearby Belleville, Ill., told Littler, "we're Bob Goalby's neighbors. You were our second choice if he didn't win."

Littler smiled and replied, "I feel a day like this can help a lot of people."

Littler had just finished his second consecutive round of 68 to register a one-stroke victory over Lee Trevino, with Bruce Crampton just another stroke farther back. Littler's total was 268.

For Littler, the win was especially sweet. He underwent surgery 16 months ago for cancer of the lymph gland and missed most of the 1972 pro golfing season. He rejoined the tour in January, and his highest finish until Sunday's victory had been a fourth-place tie in the Danny Thomas Memphis Classic in late May.

"Last year at this time I didn't even know whether I'd be able to play again on the tour—let alone win a tournament," Littler said. "This is the greatest thrill I've ever had."

Littler, who celebrated his 43rd birthday Saturday, wasn't in top shape for the tournament—he complained of stomach pains the first day—and his easy-going style fit that of a man recuperating.

In Sunday's final round, Littler was in the threesome with the other top contenders—Lee Trevino and Bruce Crampton.

Throughout the day, Trevino continued a spirited banter which amused the galleries, and Crampton searched the crowds for cameras and other small distractions. Several times Crampton, the pro golf tour's top money winner, headed for a youngster and admonished him for disobeying the rule which prohibits spectators from using cameras.

Littler strolled quietly from hole to hole—sometimes sharing a joke with his caddy. At the third hole, when Trevino drove into the rough behind a tree and had to swing left-handed to approach the green, Littler holed a 15-footer for a birdie.

Trevino, the tournament's defending champion, followed with a bogey, and Littler had the lead.

Cards trim LA lead

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Los Angeles Dodgers will have six players at Kansas City for Tuesday's All-Star game but their lead in the National League West is down to 5 1/2 games.

One of the Dodger All-Stars, 35-year-old reliever Jim Brewer, was the victim of a three-run St. Louis eighth Sunday as the Cardinals beat Los Angeles 5-4 to take over first place in the Eastern Division.

Despite two straight losses and a 12-10 record for his club in July, Walter Alston was not concerned.

"If somebody had told me in April that we'd be leading by even a half-game at the All-Star break," the Dodger manager said, "I'd have been very happy. The way it is, I'm more than that."

"I can see no reason why we can't continue our pace. We may not hit as well as we have but the pitching and defense should hold up."

The Dodger pitching and defense didn't hold up Sunday, though.

They snapped a 2-2 deadlock with a pair of runs in the top of the eighth only to see the Cardinals, a team which lost 20 of its first 25 games this year, storm back in the bottom of the inning against Brewer.

Catcher Ted Simmons drove in two runs to tie the game and went to second when centerfielder Willie Davis, another Dodger All-Star, bobbled the ball. Bernie Carbo then hit a ground rule double to bring in Simmons with the winning run.

It was a particularly tough loss for Andy Messersmith, who retired the first 14 Cardinals to face him before Carbo got an infield hit.

Messersmith, who was removed for a pinchhitter in his club's two-run eighth, gave up five hits and two runs in seven innings. Brewer was tagged with his third defeat against four wins.

Shortstop Bill Russell became the sixth Los Angeles player to be named to the All-Star game Sunday after Cincinnati's Dave Concepcion suffered a broken ankle. San Francisco's Chris Speier will start at short for the NL.

In addition to Brewer and Davis and outfielder Manny Mota, Dodger starting pitchers Claude Osteen and Don Sutton were named earlier.

Third inning blues sends Seniors home

A basketfull of Saturday errors and a salvo of Sunday hits sent Lompoc's Babe Ruth Seniors All-Stars packing from the Ruth Seniors Southern Section Tourney this weekend in two straight games.

Yesterday's 5-1 reversal at the hands of the Mountain View host city team followed a 5-2 defeat Saturday night courtesy of the M.V. travelers.

The third innings of both games were catastrophic.

Right hander Bill Boyer, who absorbed yesterday's loss, was pulled after a third inning in which the MV hosts racked up five runs on a double, a pair of singles and a three run home run over the centerfield fence which was tagged on a Boyer change-of-pace.

Left hander Johnnie Rodriguez quieted the Hosts down for the rest of the game but the Lompocans, who combined for only three game hits, could only come up with one run.

This crossed the plate in the top of the seventh in the person of third baseman Jules Hain, who walked, went to second on Mike Bratz' walk and then scored on Russ Samaniego's sacrifice fly.

But it wasn't enough.

Lompoc played errorless ball yesterday, but this was in dramatic contrast to Saturday night, when valley infielders first encountered a Mountain View skin diamond with the watered-down consistency of sawdust.

Before a packed Lompoc cheering section, the valley team endured a dark third inning in which the Travelers reaped four runs on five Lompoc ground ball fielding errors without having to connect for a single hit.

Triple snufs 13-Stars

A bases-loaded triple by Hollister's Al Torres sent Lompoc's 13-year-old Ruth All-Stars to a 4-1 defeat yesterday in the third and deciding game for the District Three title in Hollister.

The season-ending shot followed a close contest in which Dominick Berry hurled the Lompocans to a 1-0 victory, striking out seven and defeating Torres, the host team's first game starter.

Lompoc, which connected for nine hits in the critical third game compared to Hollister's two, stranded all of 10 baserunners. Brian Montgomery, who started for the visitors, was yanked after three and one third innings and five walks and relieved by Mike Velasco, who granted only one walk in his tenure but served up the game-winning hit and was saddled with the loss.

Andre Roberts doubled and singled in Lompoc's final game offense and Billie Butterfield cracked a pair of singles. Shortstop Willie Green sparkled defensively for the visitors with a diving stab of a line drive.

In yesterday's first game, the second in the weekend series, Lompoc turned in four hits, committed one error and stranded four, shutting out the errorless District Three champs on two hits.

Berning in second Women's Open win

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (UPI) — There's no telling what Susie Maxwell Berning might do on the women's golf tour if she ever went at it seriously and full-time, but she isn't even the least bit curious.

Mrs. Berning won the U.S. Women's Open for the second year in a row and third time in six years by a whopping five strokes Sunday, then said she would celebrate with a month off the tour that will include a five-day camping trip by horseback in the Nevada Sierras.

"My husband asked me what I wanted if I won the Open," Mrs. Berning said. "I told him a five-day pack trip."

Susie will get her trip—if not for winning the Open, then for her 32nd birthday, which just happened to fall Sunday when she shot an even-par 72 for her winning total of 290.

It earned her $6,000, little compared to some of the big purses that have sprung up on the LPGA tour the last couple of years, but Mrs. Berning says the big-money tournaments don't really interest her.

"Winning the Open for the third time is much more prestigious for me than winning Colgate or Sealy," she said.

"Granted, I'd like to have the 25,000 (dollars) but I don't think anything can beat winning the Open three times. It's tough to win it once."

Not since 1966 has Mrs. Berning even played enough on the tour to get her scoring average ranked. And when she does play, she admits her play suffers because she can't get "up" for the week-to-week events.

"I try a little bit harder on every shot in the Open," Mrs. Berning says. "I'm concentrating on every shot from the first day on. On the tour, I don't really concentrate until the last day."

Mrs. Berning was only the third player to win the Women's Open twice in a row and her three victories leaves her just one short of the record four by Betsy Rawls and Mickey Wright.

Shelley Hamlin, a pert second-year pro from Fresno, Calif., and 1966 LPGA champion Gloria Ehret—whose 71 Sunday was the day's only sub-par round—tied for second place at 295. Three-time National Women's Amateur champion Anne Quast Sander was at 296 and Pam Higgins, the co-leader with Mrs. Berning starting the final day, finished fifth at 297 following a closing 79.

Angels fall Sun

ANAHEIM, Calif. (UPI) — The All-Star break is here and not any too soon for the slumping California Angels.

"I'm not discouraged even though we're seven games behind (Oakland)," said Manager Bobby Winkles after the Angels fell to Baltimore 8-3 Sunday. "I look for us to have better hitting in the second half of the season and hope our pitching will be effective."

The Angels couldn't muster much of either Sunday as the Orioles, now 1 1/2 games back of first place New York in the American League East, parlayed two hits and five walks into a five-run fourth inning.

That was more than enough for right-hander Jim Palmer as he scattered eight hits to up his record to 11-6. California starter Rudy May watched his record sink to 6-8.

Williams better

OAKLAND (UPI) — Oakland A's Manager Dick Williams, apparently recovered from his operation, was en route to Kansas City today for Tuesday's All-Star game where he'll pilot the American League squad.

Williams went into the hospital Thursday for removal of his appendix. He was released Sunday and said he felt fine and was looking forward to the trip.

Ruth 15s win two -

This brought up Grossini who again rolled out another run-producing squeeze bunt with Borchard digging for the plate, arriving at first in time for the base-hit.

Lompoc scored three more in the fifth which left fielder John Null led off with a line shot single to left with one out. Simmons, Borchard and Renfro then proceeded to wait out bases-on-balls, forcing Null in with Lompoc's fifth run. After Simmons crossed the plate with his second run of the afternoon, it was George Polly's turn to lay down a bases loaded squeeze bunt with again, Paul Borchard sprinting toward the plate with the pitch.

Again, it worked.

With four teams now left in the Northern California Ruth 14-15 sectionals, Lompoc, Manteca, Palo Alto and Wasco, the victor of the tournament will advance to the Ruth Northern California Championships in Eureka this weekend. If victorious, the Lompoc squad would travel straight to the northern California city without returning home.

Then comes the regional tournament in Salt Lake City, a week-long affair involving eight teams. Check tomorrow's Record for results of today's game

Seniors lose two -

It was a game in which Lompoc lefthander Ted Grafton could have pitched a no-hitter and still lost 4-2. Grafton had a no-no going into the seventh. As it was, he lost a one-hitter 5-2, never allowing a ball to clear the infield grass all night.

The defensively harried Lompoc squad outthit the weaker of the two Mountain View teams, 5-1 and stranded a total of six men on base in the Saturday evening opener.

They made the scoreboard themselves with a run in the fifth. After Rick Fridrich was tagged out at second in an attempt to stretch a single, Kit Hubbard singled sharply down the right field line to score Grafton, who had reached base on an error.

In the sixth inning, after Jules Hain opened with a base-on-balls and went to second on Gary Hargis' single, Mike Bratz singled to right field to score Hain with Lompoc's second run. This left the bases loaded with Lompocans and still no out. But strikeouts by Rick Fridrichs and Dan Terrones, sandwiched around a blown squeeze bunt play, ended the Lompoc offensive.

Hunter and Wise All-Star starters

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (UPI) —Rick Wise of the St. Louis Cardinals and Jim Hunter of the world champion Oakland A's are expected to be named the starting pitchers today for Tuesday night's 44th All-Star game between the National and American Leagues.

The selection of Wise and Hunter will bring to center stage in baseball's annual showcase event two of the most under-publicized pitchers in the game.

Only a year ago, owner Gussie Busch of the Cardinals was under intense criticism for having traded Steve Carlton to the Phillies for Wise. Carlton had a 27-10 record for the Phillies while Wise had a 16-16 mark for the Cardinals. Carlton was not even chosen for the 1973 NL All-Star squad by Manager Sparky Anderson of the Cincinnati Reds.

Hunter, who has pitched a perfect game and been a twotime 20-game winner during his career, has consistently been underpublicized in comparison to such AL pitchers as teammate Vida Blue, Mickey Lolich of Detroit, Gaylord Perry of Cleveland and, for that matter, Nolan "Double No Hit" Ryan of California.

As the advance guard of the stars of both leagues and baseball notables gathered for the game in Kansas City's spanking new Harry S. Truman playground,

Golf Tips from the Old Masters

By The Editors of Golf Digest
RE-GRIPPING IS COSTLIEST ERROR IN GOLF SWING

The most costly error in the golf swing is probably re-gripping the club on the downswing. It is also one of the hardest things for a golfer to recognize because it is largely an instinctive act. Julius Boros offers this advice for golfers who have this problem:

"This is usually caused by letting the grip slip with the left hand as it nears the top of the swing. When this happens, the golfer must re-grip early in the downswing. This forces the wrists to cock early, which forces the club to the outside. This results in a loss of clubhead speed and a glancing blow at the ball.

"To cure this, swing more slowly as you reach the top of the swing. This will enable you to make a freer turn and give you time to concentrate on keeping your bringing the racket face across the ball from left to right.

Longtin, Griffith pace Marlin swim victory

Lompocans Jill Longtin and Todd Griffith paced the Marlins Swim Club to a tri-county swim meet victory over nine other squads in Santa Ynez Saturday.

Miss Longtin, swimming in the girls-8-and-under bracket, ran up a collection of five firsts: in the 50 yard freestyle (36.0), the 100 free (1:26.0), the 50 butterfly (42.1), the 100 IM (1:36.8) and the 50 backstroke (46.1).

Griffith, a boys 9-10 class swimmer, also commanded five event firsts, in the 50 fly (36.8), 100 IM (1:22.5), 100 free (1:10.3), 50 back (38.9), and 50 breast (44.1).

The Marlins ran up 350 team points in Saturday's encounter, the last Tri-County Swim Meet before the Summer Finals in San Luis Obispo on Saturday, August 4. San Luis was second with 265 and Santa Maria third with 250.

Boys 11-12 class swimmer Jim Denton pumped 100 free (1:01.9) and 100 fly (1:06.3) heat wins into the Marlins total as well as 200 IM and 200 back stroke seconds and a third place 200 free.

Nancy Arnold, a girls 13-14 competitor, entered firsts in the 100 freestyle (59.2) and the 200 IM (2:35.1) into Lompoc's ledger as well as second places in the 100 fly and 200 free.

In the same age bracket, Linda Wassmund stroked to victories in the 100 fly (1:11.3) and the 100 back (1:14.2). Ton Denton, swimming in boys 13-14, won firsts in the 100 free (53.6) and 100 fly (1:01.0), a second in the 200 IM and a 100 backstroke third.

Some 40 Marlins garnered 51 medals in the event, including four relay firsts.

Cougar II races today

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (UPI) — Millionaire Cougar II, the Chilean-bred 7-year-old whose owner bypassed Bill Shoemaker in favor of Laffit Pincay in his last start, makes his final Hollywood Park appearance today in the $125,000-added Sunset Handicap.

The mile and one-half Sunset is the traditional closing day feature of the 75-day Inglewood track's meeting.

Shoemaker, who rode Le Cle to a length victory in the $83,650 Beverly Hills Handicap for fillies and mares on the turf Sunday, will be back in the saddle of Cougar II.

Mary F. Jones left it up to trainer Charlie

Whittingham to select Cougar's jockey for the Sunset after Shoemaker and Kennedy Road upset her horse —and Pincay—in the Hollywood Gold Cup June 23.

Cougar has earned $1,039,641 in his brilliant career and is in his last year of racing. He is scheduled for an Eastern campaign after Hollywood and retirement during the winter.

In the Sunset, his chief challengers are expected to be Life Cycle, Wing Out and Kentuckian.

THINK ABOUT IT!

BY BOB LILLEY

Some insurance companies offer discounts on auto insurance premiums for non-smoking drivers. The companies are not doing this because non-smokers are healthier—or even to back up the Surgeon General's report. They are merely recognizing the fact that the business of lighting cigarettes and putting them out in automobiles is a distraction to the driver and a frequent cause of accidents at high speed. Eliminating this hazard reduces the risk and justifies lower premiums. Eliminating back seat drivers might be a big help, too!

News in brief

Cost overrun

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., Sunday called for an investigation into "a suspicious" cost overrun for construction of a Safeguard antiballistic missile (ABM) site.

The comment by the persistent Pentagon critic came after the Defense Department made available figures Sunday showing the single ABM site now under construction in Grand Forks, N.D., will cost $1.3 billion more than the 1969 estimate for a two-site ABM program.

Aspin contended that the cost increase was even higher. He said by adding Army figures not included in the Pentagon estimate the total overrun appeared to be $1.5 billion.

Agreement

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's 65,000 cannery workers reached agreement Sunday to end a five-day strike that threatened to drive up prices of processed fruits and vegetables.

The Teamsters Union said it would make every effort to have the workers back on the job to resume canning in the nation's major fruit and vegetable growing state, now in the midst of the peach, pear and tomato harvest.

The agreement to end the strike at 84 California canning plants was announced in Washington Sunday by W.J. Usery Jr., director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service.

Suspect captured

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (UPI) — Thirty policemen with machine guns ambushed Fred Gomez Carrasco, suspected killer of 47 persons in a Texas-Mexico drug war, and shot him as he walked out of a motel room Sunday.

"Knowing his reputation and all, we didn't intend to give him a chance," homicide inspector Jack Hutton said.

Carrasco doubled over and trailed a stream of blood several yards before he fell to the ground and was taken into custody as his wife, Rosa, ran to his side and kissed him.

A police spokesman said today Carrasco was in fair condition and under heavy guard at Bexar County Hospital.

Mars probe

MOSCOW (UPI) — The Soviet Union's first Mars probe since 1971 hurtled toward the Red Planet today, its apparent mission to put life-seeking electronic gear on the Martian surface.

Mars-4 blasted off on the six-month, 290-million-mile trip Saturday at 10:31 p.m., the news agency Tass said Sunday.

"It will continue scientific exploration of Mars and space near it that was started by the automatic interplanetary stations Mars-2 and Mars-3 in 1971," Tass said.

Cambodia

PHNOM PENH (UPI) — U.S. warplanes streaking across the skies over Phnom Penh blasted suspected Communist positions today on all sides of the capital in the closest such raids in more than a month.

A U.S. observation plane crashed while trying to make an emergency landing at Phnom Penh's Pochentong airport in the second crash in two days.

Airport officials said the pilot escaped without serious injury as his plane burned.

Investigation

NEW YORK (UPI) — The Long Island newspaper Newsday Sunday said the Internal Revenue Service (IRS) is investigating the financial affairs of Charles "Bebe" Rebozo, President Nixon's millionaire friend.

The newspaper said an undisclosed business associate of Rebozo's told its reporters about the investigation, but he did not elaborate on it.

However, Newsday said, it received one report that IRS agents had already visited the Key Biscayne Bank & Trust Co., which Rebozo founded and now heads.

Police uncover house of horrors in Miami

MIAMI (UPI) — It was a typical middle class neighborhood with laughing children, barking dogs and stereo music drifting out of open windows into the tropical air—except for the house of horrors that Albert Brust built.

Inside his modest blue and white bungalow, Brust constructed an elaborate chamber for sexual torture and perversion, lining the walls with pornographic pictures. Police say he entertained people with similar tastes.

But his neighbors knew nothing of this.

Brust's private life was bared Saturday when police found him dead, apparently of strychnine poisoning, on a green and white lawn chair outside his back door. When they entered the house, they found the dismembered body of a teenage boy encased in cement in a shower stall.

Police say Brust, a 44-year-old Miami building inspector, apparently killed himself after murdering the boy and subjecting his female companion to 22 hours of sexual abuse and torture while she was shackled in a bedroom that had been converted to a torture chamber.

The girl, who was released by Brust, made a hysterical report to police in nearby Fort Lauderdale early last week, but officers there filed her story away when her mother told them she was a "pathological liar."

The girl's tale was reopened Saturday when neighbors called police after noticing that Brust had not moved from his lawn chair for hours, although a thunderstorm had raged in the area during the day.

The girl, from Frankfort, Ky., had told Fort

Lauderdale police she had been the victim of repeated sexual abuses and whippings by a man who murdered her male companion and encased him in cement.

The 16-year-old runaway told police she and Mark Matson were picked up while hitchhiking by a man who called himself "Eric."

She said after they agreed to do household chores for him, he drove them in his white van to a suburban home and then forced them into a torture chamber.

Police say the girl told them she and the boy were ordered to perform sexual acts while the man photographed them.

Matson "jumped" Eric, she said, and was shot. Eric then dragged his body into a bathroom and told her he was going to encase him in cement.

Brust was described by neighbors as a "loner."

Detectives said records show he had been convicted of larceny in New York years ago.

The murdered youth has been identified as a runaway from Ohio whose father is a guard in a state prison there. Matson's family had filed a missing person's report on the day the girl told her story to police.

Rapid transit system

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — Residents of the Los Angeles area will get their first look today at plans for an ambitious rapid transit system designed to lure the Southern California motorist off the crowded freeways.

The Southern California Rapid Transit District is scheduled to present a series of preliminary reports by consulting firms, calling for a 116-mile network of high-speed vehicles and buses.

Initial cost estimates run between $6.5 and $7 billion, making the plan the most costly transit system ever developed for an urban area.

'Nail Sculptor' Of Rome

is the title of Amble Sonaglia, shown at work in his Rome studio-workshop. Sparks fly, upper left, as he begins work on a new project. With just a few tools he fashions nails into figurines, upper right. He displays, right, some of the works from his "Way of the Cross" collection. Sonaglia fashions Madonnas, angels, mirror frames and wall pieces from nails. Recently he found some nails believed to be two centuries old. He fashioned a work he calls "Flight Into Egypt," which he presented to Pope Paul VI.

Youth employment on base

For 91 students, ages 16 through 21, this summer won't consist of hanging around, being bored or broke.

In fact, during a recent tour of Vandenberg AFB the most commonly heard phrases from the students, who are all from the local area, had to do with "opportunity", "experience" and "future". In short, most of the students felt that they were going places.

The reason for the positive attitudes lies with the Civilian Personnel office here which has implemented a "Summer Youth Hire" program in support of President Richard M. Nixon's youth employment goals.

The office has arranged over 100 interviews with students from underprivileged areas for jobs that range from secretary and clerks to assistant mechanic and draftsman.

Most of the interviews were arranged with the help of high school counselors in the local area and the Human Resources Development Agency.

For many of the youths, the program provides a much needed place to begin acquiring skills and experience. According to Mrs. Glenda Sanders, coordinator of the program here, "Part of the idea is not only to help these students economically but to help them learn a skill and gain experience as to what is expected of them in later jobs."

Mrs. Sanders went on to say that prior experience was not a prerequisite in order to qualify a job. "The individual must be a student, usually out of school for the summer and from an economically underprivileged family."

Said one student, "Never having worked at a full time job before, this is really going to help me getting jobs in the future." The student went on to say that she was acquiring valuable job skills in office procedures.

Another student summed up the general feeling about working on Vandenberg, "I'm glad that there is someone who is willing to give us a chance. I feel that we are also making a contribution to the system by participating in it."

'Moonlighting' concerns jury

The County Grand Jury, in delivering a 10-page report which exonerated District Attorney David D. Minier and his former chief trial deput, A. Barry Cappello, after allegations of possible misconduct in office, declared it is "deeply concerned" about outside private practice by Santa Barbara County - employed attorneys.

"Moonlighting" practices of one or more county government attorneys had been a subject of discussion last year before the Board of Supervisors, and the matter had been left somewhat up in the air after denials had been made that the practice was an on-going thing.

Capello, who had resigned from the staff of District Attorney Minier to become Santa Barbara city attorney, had represented a realty firm, Oakdale Manor, Inc., which had been under fire in connection with alleged fraud cases, while he was in the district attorney's office.

While evidence before the Grand Jury indicates Cappello "did not improperly use his position in the district attorney's office in this representation and that he did not make use of county equipment, or material," the report stressed that the Oakdale Manor case "demonstrates rather clearly the potential problems created by outside practice such as was undertaken by Mr. Cappello."

The Grand Jury report, signed by Robert P. Richards, foreman, and Jean Jacoby, secretary, went on to say that newspaper articles about the case which began to be published in June, 1972, gave the appearance of impropriety by such representation.

There had been a salary dispute between county government attorneys and the county at the time which "motivated Mr. Cappello's private representation," according to the report.

But it added: "But the paramount concern of this Grand Jury is that the public confidence in the administration of criminal justice by the office of the district attorney be neither impaired nor subject to legitimate criticism. To this end, the Grand Jury intends to explore ways in which the existing county ordinance governing incompatible activities can be strengthened so as to avoid a repetition of this situation."

The Lighter Side

By DICK WEST
WASHINGTON (UPI) — One of the bad things about the current economic situation is that some of America's best-loved platitudes are becoming inoperative.

The public at large is not as yet terribly alarmed by this development. But to someone like Fred Chestnut, executive director of an organization calling itself Friends of the Cliche, the undermining of a platitude is a source of great concern.

"What you must realize is that 68 per cent of all oral communication is composed of bromides," Chestnut said in seeking to enlist me in his cause.

"Anytime a platitude that has achieved a viable and ongoing place in the language loses its meaning the ability of people to communicate with each other is impaired.

"And if there is anything we don't need at this point in time it is a widening of the communication gap."

I asked Chestnut whether there had been any recent additions to the endangered cliche list.

"There certainly has," he replied. "You yourself have noted that the phrase 'sound as a dollar,' which is one of America's all-time favorite commonplaces, now has a hollow ring."

"It definitely is in danger of being driven into oblivion by currency devaluations and international money speculators."

"And much the same thing is happening to 'chickenfeed.'"

"Chickenfeed!" I exclaimed. "You mean like when you want to describe a sum of money as piddling or paltry you say it's only chickenfeed?"

"Exactly," Chestnut said. "If something isn't done soon that cliche will become extinct, and we will be losing one of the real workhorses of the English language."

In support of his warning, he cited congressional testimony this week that the prices of feed grains used in the poultry industry had gone up about 300 per cent.

Soybean meal, for example, which is one of the main ingredients in the average hen's diet, now costs about $400 a ton, compared to $100 a year ago.

"You certainly can't describe anything that costs $400 a ton as chickenfeed," Chestnut pointed out.

I told Chestnut I, too, would hate to see these old semantic standbys rendered obsolete. Therefore I thought his cliche conservation campaign merited public support.

But I didn't consider it crucial to communication because America still had a superabundance of platitudes.

"If you can't call a meager amount chickenfeed any longer, then call it peanuts," I said.

"Apparently you haven't bought any peanuts lately," Chestnut sighed.

TV in Review

By RICK DU BROW
HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Instant television impressions:

William Conrad (star of the "Cannon" series): Books, a drink, poker, sportsman, good loser, gracious winner.

Bob Newhart: Quiet on the outside, but could dispatch a room full of hecklers forthwith.

Carol Burnett: What you see is what she is.

Raymond Burr: Knows where the Maltese Falcon is.

"The Brady Bunch": There goes the neighborhood.

Amanda Blake (of "Gunsmoke"): Modern day Lillian Russell.

Julie Andrews: Could pass as the headmistress of a society dancing school for children.

Mary Tyler Moore: Pleasant, professional and formidable.

Efrem Zimbalist Jr.: Suave, knowledgeable performer. Might have been a big movie star 30 years ago when debonair, well-mannered gentlemen were in vogue as leading men.

Sally Struthers (of "All in the Family"): Budding sexpot.

Hope Lange (of the Dick Van Dyke Show): A real dish.

Lorne Greene: If anyone remakes the Andy Hardy movies, go no further for the father, Judge Hardy.

Ed McMahon: Perfect casting for a labor leader.

Dick Van Dyke: Straight as an arrow.

Edwin Newman: Superb interviewer, brilliant newsmen.

Robert Young: He may be "Marcus Welby, M.D.," but the "Father Knows Best" image is still there.

Tony Randall: A craftsman at his acting art. One of the most individual performers around. A producer can't say: "Find me another Tony Randall." There aren't any.

Lucille Ball: Creates visions of an orange sherbet sundae.

Johnny Carson: Much better-looking now than when he took over the "Tonight" show a decade ago. Triumphs over his wardrobe.

"Hawaii Five-O": B-movies with the promise of a real island flavor that is rarely delivered.

Tom Smothers: Instinctive comedy genius.

Milton Berle: Still the most brilliant and deadly ad-libber in standup comedy.

Sheeky Greene: Topnotch impression on the "Tonight" show. Rare mixture of inventive humor, popular appeal, natural warmth and sense of perspective.

Dorothy Lamour: Lagoons, pearl-diving, native drums, quiet strumming of a ukelele.

OPINIONS

The columns of the Lompoc Record are open to all expressions of opinion consistent with good taste and the laws.

The Record's aim is to present facts in its news columns and opinions in its editorial columns.

Phase IV

We are now in Phase IV of President Nixon's economic program and it is extremely apparent that public resistance will mount as food prices climb and shortages in meat and poultry develop.

The Wall Street Journal predicts what probable food prices will be in a few weeks hence: bacon, $2 a pound, up from $1.40 now; pork chops, $2 a pound, up from $1.50 now; eggs, $1 a dozen, up from 79 cents; broiler chickens, 75 to 80 cents a pound — or perhaps even $1 — up from 65 cents.

Phase IV, the food and farm people say, is too little and too late. "It's a long term fraud, because eventually prices will rise far higher than they would have if all ceilings were just taken off now," says George W. Koch, president of the Grocery Manufacturers of America.

Adds Harold B. Steele, president of the Farm Bureau in Illinois: "Consumers must remember as Phase IV begins that the higher food prices they may face have been caused to some degree by the fact that controls have discouraged production of food and that it will be many months before any appreciable increase in some food supplies will be coming to market."

It is extremely difficult to predict where this will all end. Controls are odious to all who are controlled. In this particular case, Phase IV, they appear to be more odious to the consumer than anybody else. It is difficult to understand the economic benefit to the consumer under Phase IV when food prices are predicted to increase another four to five per cent by the end of the year — on top of a 12 per cent gain already this year.

Washington calling by Marquis Childs

Ranks depleted

WASHINGTON — That old devil inflation hovers over the bureaucracy as it does over the citizenry across the country, and it has a lot to do with excellence in government and the drain of brain power. The thorny question of how to compensate for the rapid rise in the cost of living is inevitably tied up with politics.

The report, still kept confidential, of a high-level commission recommends a 25 per cent across-the-board increase for the executive branch of government, the judiciary and Congress.

This comes at a moment when by every index bureaucrats and politicians are less respected than at any time in this century. With the burgeoning scandals at all levels it would seem the wrong time to go after a pay raise.

Yet the commission, required by law to report to the President every four years, compiled extensive data to show that many top administrators are opting out, and these are the best and the brightest. They have had no increase in pay since 1969 and during that time the cost of living has jumped 25 per cent.

But what about members of Congress? This is the large fly in the ointment. The last pay raise for Congress came on March 1, 1969 when senators and representatives went from $30,000 a year to $42,500.

With prerequisites that is substantially increased. A member of Congress does not have to refund his postal allowance over and above what he actually needs. Free trips back to the state, free long-distance calls, staff pay — all these add up to a big plus for the incumbent. In terms of income it puts most members of Congress above $50,000.

To vote yourself a raise of $10,000 a year will not be popular back in the district. That is more than the income of millions of Americans. For families on relief it looks like the pot of gold at the end of the rainbow.

If the President fails to act on the recommendation of the commission and it goes over into 1974 — an election year when Congress would never vote a pay raise — then the whole matter can be postponed until 1977. By then the cost of living may have jumped to 35 per cent over 1969. A measure has passed the Senate and will likely pass the House requiring the commission to make recommendations every two years instead of every four. Should that pass, a proposed pay increase could come in a supplementary budget, with action by Congress by early fall.

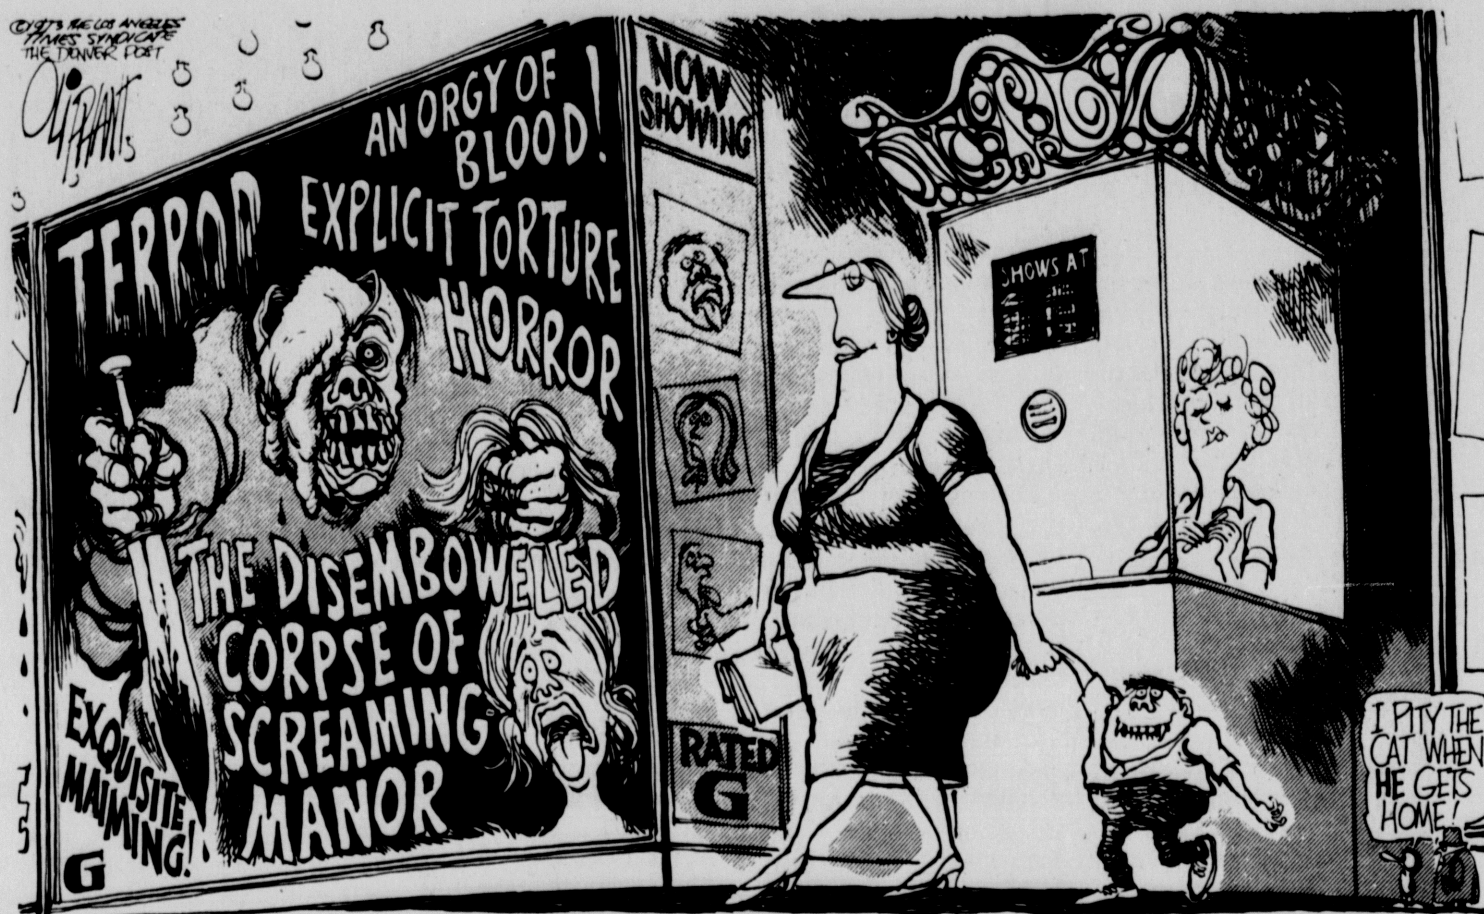

While all this may sound like mere bureaucratise touching only the slothful tax eaters, it gets down to the efficient direction of government. Civil servants at the top level of government are leaving to take pensions which include, unlike their salaries, a 6½ per cent increase geared to the cost of living. Then they are free to take jobs in private business at $20,000 or $25,000 a year, and many are doing just that with business eager to get brainy men and women knowledgeable in the ways of government.

The make-work types stay on. More and more this is true. In the foreign service the number of early retirements by men of wide experience and ability is shocking. With the dollar devalued and costs going up they simply cannot afford to stay.

President Nixon's indignation at the Senate Foreign Relations Committee over the refusal to confirm G. McMurtrie Godley as an assistant secretary of state is understandable. But he has sapped the morale of the State Department by putting ambassadorships on the political auction block, and not just the big posts but some fairly far down.

These are the conspicuous examples. When an able specialist on the Civil Service Commission or in the Office of Management and Budget takes a walk it makes no splash. But it leaves a hole in the structure of government not easily filled. The way is opened for appointments and promotions based on political favoritism.

Good government is no longer the concern of a few idealists. In this fantastically complex society it is essential to every citizen. And only able and committed men and women can effectively move the machinery of government.

Ecoworld notes

In a study that may bear on the mounting paper shortage that has come to loom unpleasantly in the future planning of newspaper executives, a midwest research institute concludes that wastepaper recycling in the United States could be doubled in tonnage by 1985 if the federal government would introduce measures to overcome existing recycling barriers.

The study notes, though, that if current patterns are not diverted by some type of action, the present decline in wastepaper recycling will continue.

Newsprint production from virgin wood is now reportedly close to maximum for the existing facilities and under the present environmental laws regulating their operation.

But individuals in some quarters are now beginning to question the government's and the paper industry's willingness to see a strong recycling industry and the degree of research and development that has been advanced toward producing recycled paper that takes to modern press equipment as well as virgin paper.

Another question, reminiscent of the recent oil scare, is how anxious is the government and the paper industry to allow incentives for wastepaper recycling in the interests of avoiding a serious paper shortage?

The Virginia Electric and Power Company, purveyors of nuclear power plants, have hit upon a bizarre method of discouraging inquisitive fish from approaching their plants' coolant water intake ports and becoming entrained in cooling systems.

The method, reported in the National Wildlife Federation's Conservation News, also appears to bear a comment on the generation gap.

Seawater intake designs for some nuclear plants specify traveling meshworks and rolling grids to keep marine life from accompanying the vast volumes of sea water needed to cool the heart of a nuclear reactor.

Virginia Electric is installing underwater speakers around the intake ports to scare the fish away. And, after experimentation, they've found that the sounds that really catapult fish back into the depths of the ocean is just plain old hard rock, the type you tune in on your car radio.

The fish can take straight 900 cycle tones, but those steel guitars — ooooooh.

The next time New York City garbagemen go on strike, electricians may get overtime. It appears that the fuel shortage has prompted the nation's largest city to consider a novel source of fuel.

Yes, garbage. The theory, now being experimented with, is that if local trash and garbage is burned as a supplemental fuel in power company boilers, less fossil fuel will be required and less garbage will have to be disposed of by costly conventional means.

The city, which puts out a brisk 30,000 tons of garbage every day, took the giant step recently by contracting for a design study for modifying a boiler in the Consolidated Edison plant to burn 500 to 1,200 tons of shredded garbage a day.

Garbage production in New York and elsewhere has been growing while places to put all of it have been dwindling and incinerators have attracted the jaundiced eye of environmentalists and have been closed wholesale by recent legislation as smog machines.

A similar program has been working in St. Louis, Mo. for over a year now, with Environmental Protection Agency help. In this operation, up to 300 tons of garbage is shredded daily and the ferrous metals magnetically removed. The remaining refuse is mixed with coal for burning in a modified boiler.

In a refinement of the process, the non-profit National Center for Resource Recovery recently determined that the burning of raw trash increased if the shredded garbage is air classified to further separate light refuse from heavy refuse.

According to New York officials, it is estimated that burning 5,000 to 10,000 tons of raw garbage per day in energy conversion boilers could net an annual fuel-oil savings of two to four million barrels of 42 gallons each.

A way out

A lady from Santa Maria was visiting friends in Lompoc on a recent Sunday and as she was proceeding north on H Street on her return home, she glanced at her gasoline gauge and noticed that the needle was empty. She had a big, new car.

She turned around and started looking for an open service station and much to her horror, she found none. She nearly panicked when she came to the conclusion that the Lompoc police department may be able to help her and she proceeded to the police station.

She found sympathetic policemen, for sure, but no gasoline. She decided then that perhaps the friend she had been visiting in Lompoc could assist and she called. Not knowing just what she could do to help, the friend, Carol Russell, went to the police station and met her friend.

In discussing the situation along with the sympathetic policemen, it was discovered that Carol's car had a full tank of gas. How to move some of that gas to the big, new car was the problem and here the police were able to help.

The evidence locker of the police department had a gasoline siphoning kit taken from a gasoline thief. The kit was "borrowed" and the gasoline transfer was made and a satisfied Lompoc visitor returned home.

We'll probably be hearing a lot more gasoline shortage stories in the near future.

A sample of the games people play has to be the practice of Tom Green and John Smith, both realtors, of passing a marble back and forth to each other. One day Green is in charge of the marble and the next day Smith is in charge of the marble. Don't ask us to explain why, just believe us.

Well, one day Green passed the marble to Smith and Smith allegedly lost the favorite marble. Green was tremendously displeased and took the matter to Chief of Police Jim Smith.

It so happens that Smith is also president of the Lompoc Kiwanis Club of which realtor Smith is a member. The chief fined the realtor $2 for losing his marble.

We attended a "rally" night at the YMCA the other evening in preparation for our daughter's first visit to Camp Sequoia. The skits put on by the counselors and junior counselors to show parents what type of fun is in store at the Camp were downright hilarious and we're mighty convinced that our daughter probably won't want to come home after a week with those youngsters...
